Content

Russia's invasion of Ukraine, the loss of life of many thousands of people, the emigration of millions, as well as the bombing of cities have come as a shock. While NATO is not involved militarily, the EU responded with unprecedented sanctions against Russia, but also continues to import Russian gas. Why did US and EU diplomacy fail to prevent this horror? What actions of solidarity can help the people of Ukraine to repel the invasion and restore the independence of their country? How should the EU prepare for the reconstruction of Ukraine and what peace in Eastern Europe will look like? International experts and (former) politicians will be present and discuss the current developments in Ukraine as well as the future EU strategy towards Russia and the entire Eastern neighbourhood.
